Rain Production Book

RAIN

This is the concept art for a short I created of a couple in the rain. The work is my depiction of finally being reunited with your love, its like the rest of the world falls away and the stars align. This project took me roughly over a month to complete and a lot of pre-production went into it and was a fundamental part of the project. The above right is the first color concept board and to the left is the first reference Black Board. Note images are not mine and came from Pinterest and were used only to gain inspiration. Below those is an early image of the idea of the couple and the rain. Following that (in this order) the first color concept board with the colors shown on the couple, then on the left the original sketch of the idea, on its right a preliminary image of the couple in the rain, followed by the second and final color concept board with the colors shown on the couple. Then, a link to the film itself (please check it out) and lastly a gif of the preliminary animation for the work.

Underneath this text on the right is another preliminary sketch of the couple followed by the final color concept board and the final inspiration and reference board for the project.
